Town Meeting Items Let Town Control Land

By Karen L. Day

With another comprehensive permit filed and several others expected, two articles in the town meeting warrant call for permission to allow the Board of Selectmen to exercise eminent domain, if necessary, in order to ensure proper use of land presently owned by Champy Construction, Shetland Properties, Perkins Family Trust and George Stevens.

The Champy/Shetland property consists of nearly 68 acres accessed by Haverhill St., and the Perkins/Stevens land totals about 61 acres off South St.

According to Town Planner Steven Colyer, there has been interest expressed by various developers to obtain these properties for comprehensive permits development, and the proposed articles would allow the town to exercise greater control over how the land is developed.

"It would be like a design contest," said Colyer, about the program based on one in the town of Lincoln.

The Planning Department would compile a manual, a "wish list" of requirements for the development of the two properties, after having a consultant compile a site analysis. This wish list can include limits on number of units, unit style, and even the percentage of units that will be subsidized as "affordable housing" units. Colyer has already applied to the state for a $40,000 grant to get the "wish lists" completed.

The town would then send out these manuals to any developer interested in one of the two properties. The developers would develop and submit their plans, meeting the requirements set forth in the manual. The town can then "pick and choose" who would develop the properties, and more importantly, how they would do it.

If a developer decides to ignore the "wish list" and submits a comprehensive permit application to the Zoning Board of Appeals, the Selectmen could obtain the land by purchase, as a gift, or by eminent domain, to protect it from development that does not meet the needs of the town. This action, said Colyer, would be a last resort, only to be taken if a developer is unwilling to meet the needs of the town and is unwilling to negotiate.

"These articles," said Colyer, "give us control of what happens on a site, (to get) what the town wants and needs...to go a lot further toward meeting our goals."

Comprehensive permits are currently costing the town approximately $30,000 to $40,000 each in staff time, legal time and court stenographers, and if a decision is appealed, that figure rises considerably.

The first comprehensive permit proposed—and denied by the Zoning Board—is currently on appeal at the state level. Paul Bruk had proposed a 36-unit development in the Summer St. area and the petition was denied predominantly due to drainage concerns. The appeal hearings are being conducted this week by the Housing Appeals Committee.

Also this week, the Riverview Commons Associates Limited Partnership submitted a comprehensive permit application approximately 22.4 acres, with frontage on Andover Business Park Drive, owned by Leo Corcoran.

Proposed are 285 units, spread among five buildings. The unit breakdown includes 25 studios, 145 one-bedroom units, 100 two-bedroom units and 15 three-bedroom units. All units will be rentals—not condominiums—thus allowing the town to count all units into meeting its state-

Transit Authority Gets Grant

State Transportation Secretary Frederick P. Salvucci has announced that the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority (MVRTA) has been awarded an $800,000 state grant toward the purchase of 19 new wheelchair-accessible minibuses and the rehabilitation of a garage and maintenance facility. The grant was awarded under a new $4 million state program that helps regional transit authorities (RTAs) purchase new vehicles and upgrade facilities.

"As regional transit authorities throughout the state are called on to provide more and better services, top-notch equipment and facilities are essential," Salvucci said. "With this new program, we'll be able to provide funding for a variety of vital capital projects—funding that is often beyond the reach of limited local budgets."

He credited the legislature for recognizing a critical statewide need and approving the funding as part of the 1985 Transportation Bond Issue. Salvucci said that Senate Ways and Means Committee chairperson Patricia P. McGovern (D-Lawrence) has been particularly instrumental in initiating the program.

The $800,000 state grant will be matched by $3.3 million in federal funds. The buses will be in service this May and construction on the garage and maintenance facility will start this summer.

MVRTA serves Amesbury, Andover, Boxford, Georgetown, Groveland, Haverhill, Lawrence, Methuen, Merrimac, Newbury, Newburyport, North Andover, Rowley and West Newbury.

"If I can operate a computer, so can you!" said Koko in her invitation to learn about computers at Memorial Hall Library. Koko is a gift from The Friends of the Memorial Hall Library and will reside in the present Children's Room until construction is completed on the new section.

Koko Arrives At Library

The Friends of the Memorial Hall Library have gifted the library with Koko, a nearly life-size stuffed gorilla, to reside in the new Children's Room of the library upon its completion.

The real Koko is a gorilla adopted by Dr. Francine Patterson in 1972 in order to study the language abilities of animals.

To date, Koko has a vocabulary of over 500 words, which she communicates through use of American Sign Language. But that isn't the only way in which Koko has become more human than most gorillas...

Koko requested a cat for a birthday present and has had two since that time. Koko not only plays with her present cat, named "Lips-Lipstick," she also feeds and provides all care for it.

Even the Koko replica at the library has a pet cat!

The Friends thought that Koko would be a welcome addition to the library attractions for children because it would be "fun for kids to have something they don't have at home." Koko may also stimulate interest in reading since the real Koko is the subject of a children's book.

Andover Student Recipient Of Aviation Scholarship

Elizabeth Straube of Andover, a North Shore Community College student, has received a significant aviation scholarship award, according to an announcement and confirmation from Dr. Robert Finkelstein, chairman of the college's aviation science program.

Straube will be presented the $2,500 inaugural scholarship of New England Aero Club on April 8 at Hanscom Field, Bedford. A native of New Jersey, she is married to an electrical engineer and widely travelled in following her husband's career path.

Straube enrolled at North Shore Community College last September, bringing prior acceptable credits from studies at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N.J. where she earned a bachelor of engineerig degree in 1980. She is looking forward to graduation in June with a 4.0 cumulative average.

Prior to graduation, however, Straube has another objective in mind. "I'm confident of passing the test for my private pilot's license with instrument rating during April," she confided in a phone conversation. "After I acquire my single engine license, I'll be going after a commercial/instructor's license. I would love to go back to Beverly Airport and teach others or I may consider charter or commuter flying."

After graduation from Stevens Institute, Straube served one year at Boeing Corporation in Seattle as designer of a data acquisition system for in-house testing of surface-to-air missiles. She then spent two years at Hewlett-Packard Electronics in Portland, Oregon. Arriving in the Boston area, Straube moved into the art field, becoming a designer of stained glass pieces. She began flying lessons at Hanscom Field and looked around for aviation programs in higher education.

She found aviation science at North Shore Community College, enrolled and within a year has been recognized as outstanding among students in the field of aviation and aviation science.

The program will be at Sharlene Radford's home, 5 Olympia Way, at 7:30 p.m.

The League of Women Voters announces its position on many of the articles in the warrant at Town Meeting. These positions always have been reached by consensus of the membership after study and discussion at consensus meetings. Visitors are welcome.

Andover LWV President Jean Salazar urges all league members to attend the consensus units on the warrent articles. She noted some of the priority articles to be discussed: the fate of Old Town Hall, acquisition of two parcels of land for affordable housing, the acquisition of 400 commuter parking spaces at Shetland Properties, the land banking authorization article and a fair number of conservation articles.

The planet Jupiter rotates on its axis so fast it's greatly flattened at the poles.

An Artful Production

Last Thursday night, 500 students from all schools in the Andover school system met at the high school to offer a dynamic answer to the question, "The Arts: What Difference Do They Make?" The evening featured chamber music, solo and group singing, a cultural tour of Tahiti, and a multi-media dissertation on the arts. The formal program, narrated by high school students Heather Whyte and Neil Fader, was dedicated to the memories of J. Everett Collins and Peter Cookson. Featured were performances by the high school chorus and band, elementary school musicians and dancers, the All-Town Chorus, Orchestra, Middle School Wind Ensemble and Junior High Jazz Ensemble; the Eighth Grade Female Chorus and the Handbell Choir. Artists from Shawsheen Early Childhood Center displayed their works in the hallway throughout the evening.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Combating fatigue after the birth of your child is an important factor. For the first couple of weeks it is important that you, as a new mother, take at least one nap each day. Napping when the baby sleeps is one way of approaching the problem, but if the baby doesn't sleep much during the day, someone else should relieve you so you can sleep. When babies do take long naps, their mothers are often tempted to use that time to catch up on housework. But, not resting enough at the beginning, however, may lead to sudden exhaustion later.

Let the staff at TINY TOTLAND assist and guide you through your purchase of baby furniture. Leading brand names by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux. Tel. 1-603-623-6171. Open 9-5:30. M. & Th. 9-9. We have lamps, wall hangings, toys, carriages and much more at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N. H. "Where Quality Costs You Less."

UNION NATIONAL HELPED DAVID SOLOMONT MAKE 90 BEDS.

ANDOVER, September 21—Academy Manor Nursing Home and Retirement Resort will have a grand opening for its new 90-bed addition.

The $5 million addition will nearly double the accommodations of the home. It includes an atrium, several new dining and living areas, a pub, a library, craft rooms and a health club.

The newly completed wing was financed by Union National Bank, and will allow Academy Manor to care for 177 residents from local communities.

That was the news last Fall when, in response to the Andover community's increasing need for skilled personal nursing care, Academy Manor opened its new Phillips Brooks Wing.

Union National Was There. We've been serving the financing needs of growing businesses in the I-495 region for many years. Through our Loan Processing Office in Andover, we are now providing fast, efficient service to a host of new customers in this area.

David Solomont Says It Best. When asked his appraisal of Union National, Academy Manor's owner was quick to reply: "They're accommodating and cooperative. And they had obviously studied our business, because they knew what they were talking about. Even though they're a big bank, they responded to us like a small, personal banker, in assisting our expansion."

At Union National, we're also expanding our business by offering our lending services for commercial real estate financing, business and corporate financing to everyone within sound of this message.

How can we help expand your business? Call us in Andover at 475-9963, or our nearby headquarters in Lowell at 458-3151

Mad-Hatters

Financial Aid Info Offered

Representative Sue Tucker reports that there are two free sources of information regarding college financial aid for students and their parents.

"$ources" is a brochure designed as a comprehensive guide to state and federal programs for those unfamiliar with the aid process. For a copy of "$ources." write or telephone Rep. Sue Tucker, R. 473G, State House, Boston, MA 02133.

In addition, the Higher Education Information Center provides advice from trained counselors regarding eligibility and how to complete financial aid applications. The toll free number is 1-800-442-1171 and is staffed from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday; and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

According to Tucker, there is a great deal of confusion about the availability of financial aid because of headlines which announce cuts each year. Although many federal grant programs have been cut, other types of aid have been increased.

"For example, the Massachusetts Legislature has been sensitive to the problem of growing reliance on loan programs which place extraordinary heavy debt burdens on students," she said. "In Massachusetts we have increased state scholarship aid from $19 million to $75 million in the four years I have served and this week the education committee recommended an additional $25 million for the next fiscal year."

Co-Op Goes Maple Sugaring

The Community Cooperative Nursery School of North Andover enjoyed one of their many field trips of the year by going "maple sugaring" at the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield.

The children were shown a slide show of the maple sugaring process and how to identify maple trees. They toured the sanctuary and were shown maple trees being tapped for their sap. After observing the sap being boiled down into maple syrup at the sugar shack, the chilren were treated to a sample of the product.

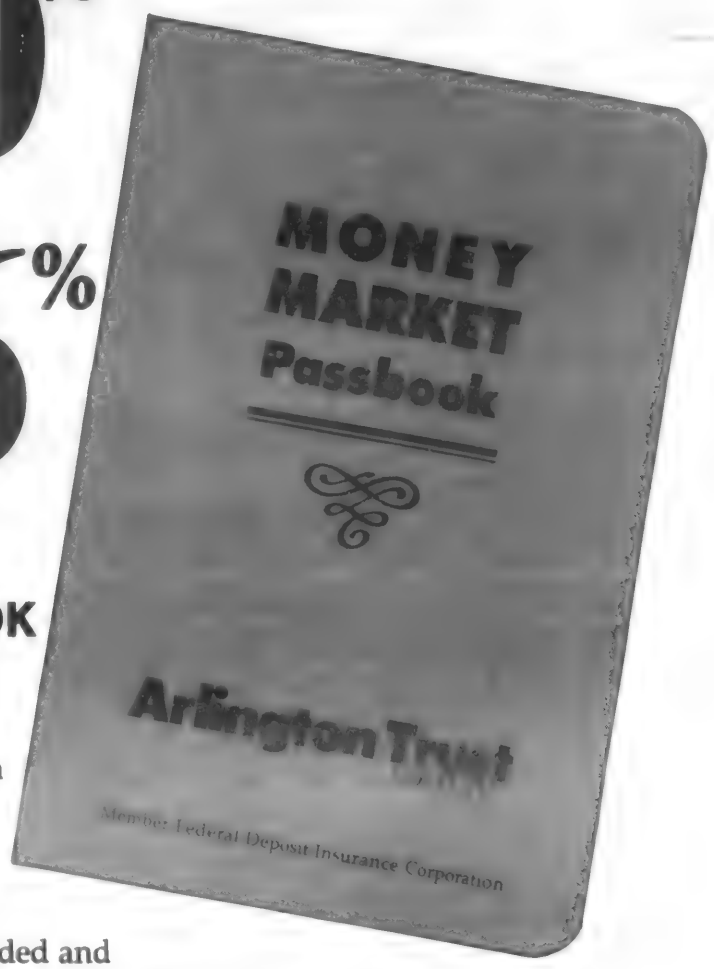

The cooperative reinforces its philosophy of proving "hands-on" experience for children ages 3-5 by scheduling as many as 20 field trips a year. With enthusiastic support from parents, the cooperative has taken the children to the Blue Hills Trailside Museum where they attended a seminar on wildlife living in the Blue Hills and delighted in the challenging experience of climbing to the top of the mountain. The school also sponsors trips to local hospitals, Phillips Academy zoology department, Acton Discovery Museum and more.

Community Cooperative Nursery School is directed by Jean Cocuzzo, assisted by Terry Hadwen. It offers a program where parents participate in the operation of the school and in the daily school curriculum by assisting teachers. The school focuses on the building of self-esteem along with self-expression through various art media.

For further information regarding the cooperative and their morning and afternoon sessions, contact Susan Wilner.

A.S.K. Team Prevention Month

The Andover Community A.S.K. Team has proclaimed May "Prevention Month." The team wants to confront the substance abuse problem in the Andover community by education and prevention.

Sound education involves learning the basic skills of decision-making, building positive self-esteem and instilling a sense of responsibility. successful prevention must include alternative home and community activities. The A.S.K. Team consults with professional groups that have access to the highest quality of information on both issues.

If the problem of a drug and alcohol abuse is to be addressed in Andover, cooperation needs to be established between families, local community establishments and social and civic groups. A united anti-drug attitude can make a difference in building resistance to this problem.

The A.S.K. Team invites all of Andover to help in offering health education or social alternatives to chemical abuse. The team asks businesses, individuals, schools and church and civic groups to participate in activities focusing on ways to work together toward a healthier, more supportive environment for young people.

Some sugggestions for involvement are: host a workshop; raise funds to support activities; activities for youth and families; plan long-term solutions; plan family time together; volunteer for community involvement.

The team has begun to fill May's calendar with a variety of activities. The Andover Police Department will hold a drug awareness program and South School is hosting a bike rodeo. To kick off the activities, Dr. David Elkind will speak to parents and educators in the Collins Center on Tuesday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. He is the noted author of "The Hurried Child: Growing Up Too Soon" and "All Grown Up and No Place to go: Teenagers in Crises.' This visit to Andover is made possible through the joint efforts of the Andover Public Schools, Parent Advisory Groups and the Andover Business Collaborative. Funding has been provided by a grant from the Smith Purdon Fund at West Parish Church.

ATTENTION IRA INVESTORS

Come see our IRA expert Sue Dancause.

How will tax reform affect your IRA? You've no doubt heard your share of horror stories.

Relax and listen to the facts.

You have until next April 15 to get the maximum tax advantages from your 1986 IRA contribution. You can deduct the full amount from your taxable income, and earned interest is tax deferred until withdrawal.

In 1987, every wage earner can make a contribution to an IRA and the interest earned will remain tax deferred. However, your personal tax situation will determine your eligibility for a full tax deduction.

What does all this mean? Two things.

Number one: You need a bank smart enough to help you keep building retirement income. We at Lawrence Savings Bank are the IRA experts. We're following tax laws closely to help you plan your future retirement savings.

Number two: You need a bank generous enough to lend you the money for your IRA contribution at a preferred loan rate. We fit that bill too. Now there's no reason not to make your 1986 contribution.

It's true that the IRA tax laws are changing. It's also true that you can adapt.

Call our IRA expert, Sue Dancause, at 687-1131, or visit any Lawrence Savings Bank office today. There's no obligation.

Program Donations Needed

The Department of Community Services is in the process of organizing the family movie program and summer concert series which is held annually in Central Park.

Each year many people take advantage of the free entertainment programs. Picnic suppers, children playing, sing-a-longs with neighbors meeting neighbors are a common sight on Wednesday evenings during the concerts. Popcorn, soda, pillows and, of course, bug spray are the fare for moviegoers in the park on Mondays. Both programs are centered around the renovated bandstand.

Community Services' programs are self-supporting, but due to the nature of the movie and concert program, donations from the community have been necessary in order to continue them. Each year fewer businesses donate to the program while others reduce their gifts. Additional donations are needed this year from those who may not have been aware of this need. All donations are tax deductable and should be made out to the Town of Andover. Contributors may remain anonymous or choose to receive publicity by appearing on a poster and in the press releases when programs are advertised.

This summer's movie program begins the week of June 29 and includes "Bullwinkle," "Ruthless People," "Sleeping Beauty," "The Black Cauldron," "The Care Bears Movie," "Flintstone," "Mary Poppins" and "The Super 7."

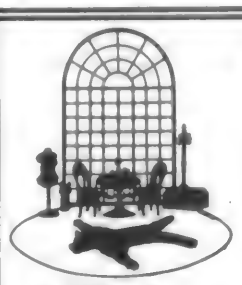

"Lady Liberty" Scheduled

In celebration of the centennial of the Statue of Liberty and of the millions of immigrants who made America great, "Lady Liberty," the new Theatreworks/USA musical, will play at Doherty Junior High School, Bartlet Street, Andover, on Saturday, April 4, at 1 p.m.

Commissioned by the education department of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, "Lady Liberty" tells the story of Maria Sohovic, an orphaned teenager seeking her place in the new world at the turn of the century. Arriving alone and almost penniless, Maria finds her high hopes dashed by seemingly unsurmountable obstacles. Despite adversity and disappointment, she perseveres, not only forging a new life for herself, but reviving the dreams of her friends.

"Lady Liberty" was written by two of the most respected talents on the New York theatre scene. The music is by four-time Grammy winner and Oscar nominee Joe Raposo whose work for "Sesame Street" includes the theme song and Kermit the Frog's "Being Green." He has written for Frank Sinatra, Barbra Streisand and Lena Horne and composed the hit "Sing, Sing A Song" as well as the score for "The Great Muppet Caper." The book and lyrics of "Lady Liberty" are by John Allen whose two full-length plays are currrently being prepared for production.

Based in New York, Theatreworks/USA is America's largest and preeminent theatre for young and family audiences. This show is presented by Kaleidoscope in cooperation with the Andover Department of Community Services. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Trip Part Of Auction

The Community Cooperative Nursery School will hold its annual "Something-in-a-Basket" fund-raising auction on Friday, April 10, at the North Parish Unitarian Church in the Olde North Andover Center. A variety of items donated by parents, staff and friends will be sold to the highest bidders starting at 8 p.m. with viewing at 7 p.m.

There will be many one-of-a-kind items, such as needlework, homemade gourmet foods, an antique child's chair offered by Country In Andover, Celtics playoff tickets and round-trip transportation to Logan. Three pairs of round-trip airline tickets to Hawaii, valid for more than one year, will be auctioned off. One of the most valued items is supplied by a former nursery school parent, Dr. Kenneth Drizen, who has donated full orthodontic treatment for any one adult or child in the purchaser's immediate family. Promises of additional services of various kinds include cooking, babysitting and gardening. Ten door prizes will be awarded throughout the evening.

Refreshments will be served. The Coop welcomes parents of past, current and future students and anyone else wishing to come. For further information, contact Mrs. Richard Olans of Andover.

Tea bags were first used in 1904 when Thomas Sullivan, a New York City coffee and tea merchant, sent his customers samples of tea in small silk bags instead of in the usual tin containers. The customers began to order tea leaves in bags after finding that the drink could be brewed easily with them.

When that new-fangled machine called the automobile first came out, officials in England set the speed limit at four miles per hour and required someone with a flag to walk in front of every car on the road.

Contadora Teach-In Sunday

There will be a teach-in on the Contadora Peace Initiative at Christ Church on Sunday, April 5, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Presented by Beyond War, an educational peace organization, and co-sponsored by the Andover Ecumenical Peace Group and the North Andover People for Peace, "Crisis and Solution in Central America" offers an opportunity to examine and discuss the history of the Central American crisis and Contadora's process of regional negotiations. Speakers will be Tom Meyers, a history teacher in the Andover public schools, and Willard Perry, Jr., chief of radiology at Salem Hospital.

Often confused with the "Contras," counter-revolutionaries fighting the leftist government in Nicaragua, Contadora is quite possibly the only viable non-military solution to the escalating violence in Central America. Alarmed by increased violence in the region, four nations on the periphery of Central America, Mexico, Venezuela, Columbia and Panama met on the island of Contadora, off the coast of Mexico, in January 1983 to seek a negotiated settlement to the conflicts in their neighbor countries, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador and Costa Rica. After years of extended negotiations, Contadora received the support of Brazil, Argentina, Peru and Uruguay in August 1985. The Contadora peace initiative has also received the support of the Organization of American States, UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization), the League of Women Voters and Pope John Paul II. Today this on-going process of regional negotiations can serve as a guide to effective non-military settlements to international conflicts.

The teach-in is open to the public. Admission is free. Light refreshments will be served.

Collaborative Gets Grant

Senator Bob Dole, chairman of the Dole Foundation, announced the awarding of a $18,911 grant to the Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative in Andover. The grant will be used to train and employ ten people with disabilities at Honeywell, Inc. Participants will receive state-of-the-ar,t industry-based training.

The Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative is one of nine recipients selected from 300 requests to the Dole Foundation for assistance. The nine grantees will collectively receive $250,000 to aid persons who have disabiliites.

"I'm personaly delighted to see the quality of work being done to aid persons with disabilities," Dole said. These awards represent a long-held commitment of U.S. Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole to help create job opportunities for the disabled in America.

"We are a young foundation," said Jackie A. Strange, president and cheif executive officer, "but our track record is strong and we are committed to our cause."

Dole, who established the foundation in 1984 in response to his personal experiences with disability, has noted that employer attitudes are starting to change toward people with disabilities.

"Businesses are beginning to understand that it makes good economic sense to hire disabled people," he said. "They recognize that citizens who really want to work can bring excellent skills and strong motivation to the workplace. It's good for all of us to work together.'

The Dole Foundation is a non-profit, nonpartisan, charitable organization headquarterd in Washington, D.C., that relies on private and corporate contributions to support the grants program. Since 1984, it has funded 43 programs for a total of $1,150,000.

Arts, Crafts Lecture Scheduled

Wendy Kaplan, the project director of the Museum of Fine Arts' Department of American Decorative Arts and Sculpture, will give a slide lecture on the MFA's arts & crafts exhibit on Thursday, April 2, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. at The Old Center Hall, 3 Great Pond Road, North Andover. Refreshments will follow at the North Andover Historical Society, Johnson Cottage, Academy Road.

The Museum of Fine Arts' exhibit, "The art That is Life: The Arts and Crafts Movement in America 1875-1920," is the first comprehensive study of the decorative arts and architecture of the American arts and crafts movement that occured during this period. A 1910 Navajo blanket of the North Andover Historical Society Samuel Dale Stevens collection is included in this traveling exhibit which will be in Boston through May 31. The installation will interpret the arts and crafts style which had its beginning in mid-19th century England and concluded with prominent design reforms. The movement symbolized a return to hand craftmanship and the "joy in labor," as well as promotion of simple, uncluttered interiors by a unification of all art forms. Moreover, simplicity and honesty in furniture design with solid native woods rather than imported veneers, rectilinear forms rather than curves and elimination of unnecessary decoration were focused upon. The aesthetic and far-reaching movement developed attitudes about how to make objects and live with them.

Kaplan has been an adjunct instructor at Boskton University in her field of specialty, the arts and crafts movement in America. After her graduation from the Winterthur Program in Early American Culture she had experience at other institutions, including the Hagley Museum, National Gallery of Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Sayat Nova Dance Company

Dance Company In Performance

The Knights and Daughters of Vartan of the Merrimack Valley area will present the Sayat Nova Dance Company at West Junior High School, Shawsheen Road, Andover, on Sunday, April 5, at 3:30 p.m.

The newly-formed Armenian folkloric dance troupe, under the direction of Apo Ashjian, encompasses more than 40 dancers from the Greater Boston area as well as Canada and the Middle East who are young, dedicated and proud of their culture and want to promote it through the art of Armenian folk dance on stage. The group is named after the poet, Sayat Nova, and will perform throughut the United States and Canada.

The women of the Sayat Nova Dance company not only dance with their feet, but with a relaxed, rhythmic movement of the shoulders and arms and a demure pose of their heads. Their costumes are striking and beautiful.

The group dances at a very fast pace and with big steps. In all these dances, the hands wave about with the music.

The men's dances are very lively and rich in a variety of movements of the legs and feet performing acrobatic acts with ease and agility.

Ashjian, the director/choreographer, has been active in Armenian dance for more than 16 years. He has performed with the internationally renowned Mandala Folk Dance Ensemble of Boston, directed the Erepouni Dance Ensemble and most recently directed the Agbu Daron Dance Ensemble of Boston.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Chorus In Boston Concert

"It was an afternoon from another age. . .The chilren have voices like angels." So writes Chris Young, reporter from the "Lawrence Eagle Tribune" at a recent concert by the Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack Chapel.

Concert-goers will hear these professionally-trained young voices sing the sacred music of American composers from the past and present who have had a profound infuence on Boston's musical life on Sunday, April 5, at 4 p.m. at Old North Church, 193 Salem St., Boston. The Treble Chorus of New England, an outstanding professional children's chorus ages 8-18, under the direction of Marie Stultz, will perform the first of two Americana Concerts in Boston in honor of the 200th Anniversary of the Constitution. The second concert will be held Sunday, May 5, at 4 p.m. at First and Second Church on Marlboro Street.

At the Old North concert, the audience will be treated to an historical walk through American sacred music including a hymn sing with the audience using some of the well-known hymns of Lowell Mason. Featured composers will be Francis Hopkington, the first American composer (1737-1791); from the 18th century William Billings, a psalm tune, and Jacob Kimball a fuging tune; from the early 19th century, Lowell Mason (1792-1872), the person responsible for the beginning of music education in the Boston Public Schools and composer of many hymns; George Root (1820-1895) from Sheffield; and late 19th and 20th century composers, Charles Ives, Samuel Barber and Boston's own Daniel Pinkham, born in Lynn in 1923, who studied with Copland and Barber and is head of the early music department at the New England Conservatory of Music and music director at King's Chapel, Boston. The concert will conclude with the "Canon of Praise" by Natalie Sleeth, a composer whose composition shows the popular genre of anthem writing today.

The Treble Chorus of New England is a professional group of boys and girls, ages 8-16, singing a wide repertoire of classical music, both sacred and secular. The chorus sings in five languages and their concerts have included works by Bach, Britten, Purcell, Vivaldi, Faure and Gilbert and Sullivan. They have delighted audiences with their performances of operetta and staged pieces and have premiered and performed works composed by Stultz who founded the group in 1975.

Andover participants of the St. Augustine concert include Kristen Alberich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Alberich; Shannon Canavin, daughter of Madonna Canavin; Krissie Carothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carothers; Hilary Driscoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Driscoll; Mary Ellen Driscoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Driscoll; Amanda Gulezian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gulezian; Debbie Hanscom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hanscom; Sherri Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Johnson; Laura Kohl, daughter of The Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Kohl; Micheline Mahon, daughter of Edith Mahon and Carlos Garcia; Helena Padellaro, daughter of Sandy Padellaro; Tara Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Richards; Mary Ellen Shay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shay; Alyssa Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan; Carolyn Yoder, daughter of John Yoder; Bradford Croteau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Croteau; Rebecca England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard England; Erika Gulezian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gulezian; Ann Hassan, daughter of Sarah Hassan; Emily Kohl, daughter of Dennis and Karin Kohl; Mary Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Myers; Yvonne Nicoletti, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Nicoletti; Andrew Shen, son of Tsu-Yuan and Linda Shen.

MEANINGFUL DIALOGUE SHOULD IMPROVE RELATIONSHIPS

Recent clinical research suggests something that you may have observed or may even have experienced. Teenage Virtuoso To Be Guest

Last spring the Collins Center for the Performing Arts in Andover was filled to near capacity by children and adults enjoying the lively sounds of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra and conductor George Monseur's informative manner. The concert was such a success that the Philharmonic was asked to make the Young Person's Concert an annual event.

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will present its second annual concert for young people at the Collins Center, Shawsheen Road, Andover, on Saturday, April 4, at 10 a.m.

The one-hour concert will include Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," elections from Tchaikowsky's "Nutcracker," a movement from Henri Wieniawski's "Violin Concerto No. 2 in D Minor, Op. 22," and Modest Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

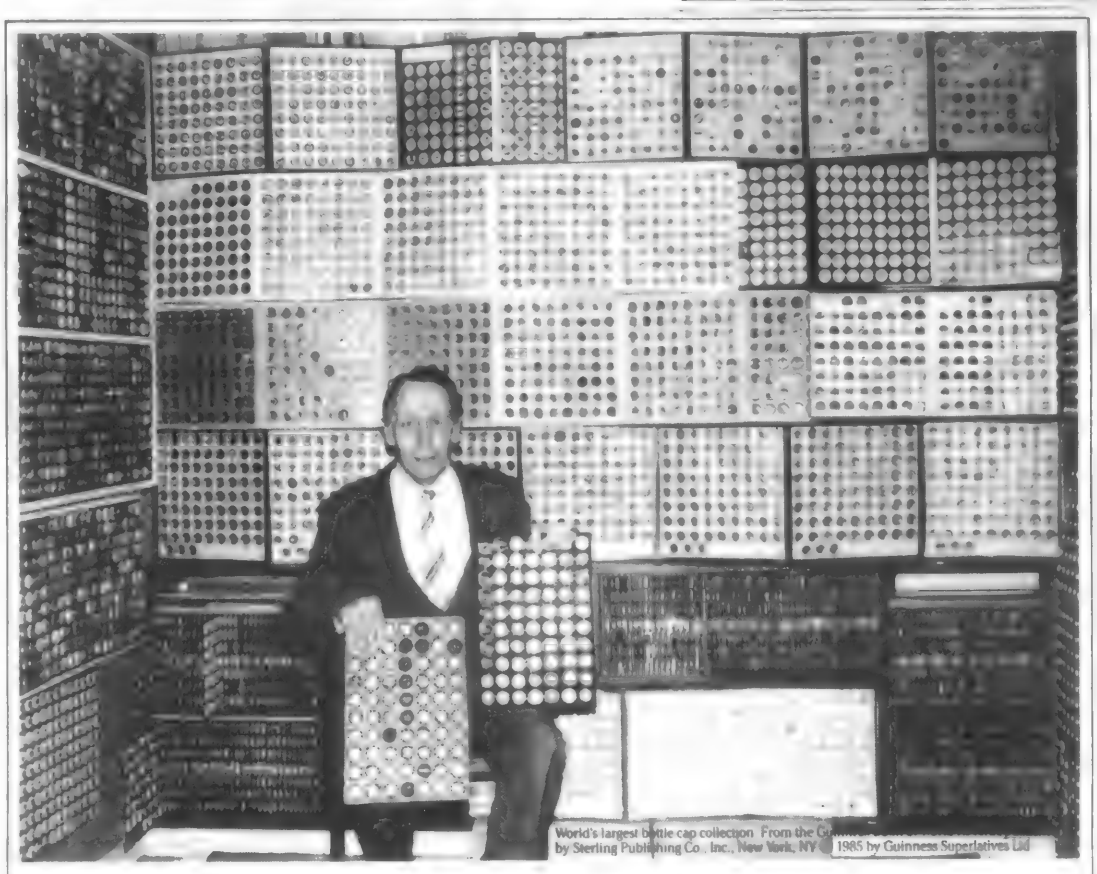

Monseur will talk to the children about the music and the orchestra. Many of Monseur's "visits" with the children last year were bi-lingual for the benefit of Spanish-speaking children and adults in the audience.

Two special features will enhance this year's concert. The Wieniawski "Violin Concerto" will be performed by 15-year-old violin virtuoso Elizabeth Ann Larson. Already receiving international acclaim, Larson recently returned from a concert engagement with Kurt Mauser at the Leipsig Gewandhas, has played with the Boston Pops and will present four recitals in Japan. She is a member of the New England Conservatory Youth Chamber Orchestra and youth string quartet. Larson began her violin studies at the age of two, presented her first solo recital at six and was a soloist with the Milwaukee Symphony at seven.

The Moussorgsky "Pictures at an Exhibition" will be given added imagery with a nationally acclaimed puppet theater from Albany, N.Y., Das Puppenspiel. Using life-size puppets, colorful costumes and unique props, Das Puppenspiel has specialized in visual interpretations of classical, orchestral works. Their special treatment of "Picture at an Exhibition" was developed over a two-and-one-half-year period and uses mask and mime. A central story line of a young boy growing up, using each movement of the Moussorksy to portray a different stage of childhood, evolves into the boy growing into adulthood.

The symphony series is paid for in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities and the Arts Lottery Councils of Tewksbury, Lawrence and Methuen.

Chamber Music Premiere Performance

The music department of Phillips Academy will present a first performance of two chamber music works by composer John McLennan, a resident of Tyringham, Berkshire County, on Sunday, April 12, at 3 p.m. in the Addison Gallery of American Art.

"Duo for Violin and Viola" and "Trio for Violin, Viola and French Horn" will be performed by Boston Symphony Orchestra players Amnon Levy, violin; Bernard Kadinoff, viola; and Jonathan Menkis, horn. Levy says of McLennan, "His compositions are very special. He is an outstanding composer and is well known only to a handful of us."

John Stewart McLennan was born November 26, 1915. He studied piano with Aurelio Giorni and Alxander Siloti and composition with Karol Rathaus and Erich Itor Kahn as well as at the Peabody Conservatory. Among his compositions are "Intermezzo," a dance score performed by Tamara Toumanova in 1939, "In This Temple" for chorus and brass instruments, written for the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial, two commissioned works for Canterbury Cathedral in England which are now part of the permanent repertoire, and many other orchestral, dance, organ and chamber works. He received the Music Award from the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters in May 1985.

The program will also include Samuel Barber's "Concerto for Violin" with Levy accompanied on the piano by Christopher Walter, Phillips Academy pianist and music faculty member.

The public is invited. There is no charge for admission.

The play tells the story of Tubman, an escaped slave, who led many other slaves to freedom on the "underground railway." The play relates the theme of slavery to the plight of modern refugees from Central America seeking sanctuary.

The URT uses live acting, large puppets, lighting effects and shadows in the presentation. A large papier-mache bust of Harriet Tubman is suspended above the stage throughout the play.

This performance is a benefit for the Greater Lawrence Ecumenical Area Mininstry (GLEAM) and is made possible in part by a grant from the New England Telephone Co., the National Endowment of the Arts and the Mass. Nursery Examines Readiness

The Andover Rompers Nursery School at St. Augustine's Church sponsored an evening on Monday, March 23, with two professionals in the field of child development and school readiness speaking to the parents of the chilren in the Rompers program concerning the upcoming kindergarten screening process in Andover and the issue of developmental readiness for school.

The speakers were Dr. Janice Goldstein, psychologist and consultant, and Ron Zagaja; family therapist and consultant to schools, both of Andover Counseling Center, North Andover. Goldstein, having developed and implemented kindergarten screening programs in the past, described to the parents the areas in which their children would be tested during the screening process and what the results of the testing means. Zagaja described the developmental stages of the child ages two through five years and addressed many parenting issues.

The evening was sponsored by the Andover Rompers Nursery School as a service to the parents of the children in their program and their guests.

Antique Quilts To Be Discussed

From Louisville, Kentucky, nationally-known antique quilt historian Shelly Zegart will share her experience and insights in a lecture format on Thursday, April 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of West Elementary School, Beacon Street, Andover.

Zegart was the driving force behind the "Kentucky Quilt Project," an idea to preserve a unique heritage which resulted in a tour under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution. She has written numerous articles and has appeared in "Quilters Newsletter," "The Quilt Digest," "Art & Antiques" and others. Her quilts are displayed on walls in hospitals, banks, hotels and offices as well as in private homes.

"I really appreciate quilts as a woman's statement," she muses. "Quilts summarize the major themes in a woman's life—birth, marriage and death. They gave expression and freedom from anonymity to the women who created them."

Zegart also appraises quilts for insurance purposes and advises on the care and preservation of old quilts. The quilts she will bring to Andover were all made in America from 1850-1940 and are available for purchase.

Tickets may be purchased at the door. Her appearance is sponsored by Kaleidoscope, a local non-profit enrichment program, in cooperation with the Andover Department of Community Services.

Andover Garden Club Members Win Prizes

Three members of the Andover Garden Club were awarded prizes at the recent New England Spring Garden and Flower Show at the Bayside Exposition Center in Boston. Members of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc. represented clubs from all parts of the state. Professional landscapers and nurseries also participated in this colorful presentation, always a harbinger of spring.

The federation selected "Child's Garden of Verses," based on the poetry and prose of Robert Lewis Stevenson, as its challenge theme.

Mrs. Ralph H. Hill, one of the club's most distinghished flower arrangers and past president 1963-65, was honored with a Blue Ribbon for her interpretation of "The Pirate's Story," a dramatic arrangement created from wisteria vine painted black, orange, red and yellow heliconia and whale-back palm displayed in a shiny black container placed on a pedestal.

Mrs. Norman C. Frost received an award for her imaginative display depicting "Escape at Bedtime." She is chairman of environmental concerns for the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc., a master judge and a member of the National Council Landscape Design Critics.

Mrs. Alfred Syieck was honored for her entry in "The Land of Counterpane" challenge. She is a state board director of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc. and an accredited judge.

The horticulture division of the club received recognition for their creativity in presenting a "Bay Window—West Exposure" which included carefully nurtured spring bulbs and statuary. Mrs. John Boshar and Mrs. Robert Wright are co-chairmen of this committee.

Couples are invited to "Shear Madness," Boston's longest running play on April 11. This "whodunit" spoof, set in a unisex hair salon on Newbury Street has been likened to a theatrical game of "Clue." The audience is drawn into solving the crime and votes to determine who is guilty. The play has four optional endings, one of which is played out according to the show of hands from the audience. For more information, call Rosemary Bernal.

Kathleen Sheehy and William Lane, Bon Secours Hospital President

Honored For Volunteer Service

Kathleen Sheehy of Andover has been honored by the American Hospital Association with the "Volunteer Excellence Award" for her service to Bon Secours Hospital in Methuen. She has been a volunteer at the hospital since 1967.

Sheehy has amassed nearly 15,000 hours of volunteer service over the past 18 years. She has worked as a patient transportation aide, in physical therapy, as a nursing aide and in the reception area. She currently volunteers in the recovery room.

"Kathy has dedicated her life to helping others; she does it quietly and without fanfare, yet is extremely effective in every aspect of her work," commented William L. Lane, Bon Secours president/chief executive officer. "In the true spirit of volunteerism, Kathy Sheehy has and continues to perform in an exceptional manner at Bon Secours Hospital."

Sheehy was treasurer of the Bon Secours Hospital Auxiliary for nine years and served as the first manager of the gift shop.

The national award presented annually by the American Hospital Association acknowledges the value of volunteerism to individual lives and hospitals.

Volunteers

The Samaritans of Merrimack Valley received 34,148 calls for help during the past 12 months. "Simple Gifts" Program At Andover UU Church

Ben Tousley

Unitarian Universalist Minister Ben Tousley will present a special intergenerational program at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover, 6 Locke Street, on Sunday, March 29.

Rev. Tousley's program is entitled "Simple Gifts," an exploration of the value of gifts of the heart in a society which too often emphasizes the market value of giving.

As with many of the other services for which he is well known, he will focus on participation from the congregation.

Rev. Tousley is a graduate of Harvard Divinity School and serves as chaplain at the Unitarian Universalist Doolitte Retirement Home in Foxboro. He travels widely, offering concerts and workshops to churches, schools, libraries and hospitals.

Services begin at 10:30 a.m., followed by a fellowship coffee hour. Nursry care is available for infants and preschool children. Older children will be welcome at this special service.

Sharing Sunday At Vale

The Ballard Vale United Church (a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation) will mark the fourth Sunday in Lent with an observance of "One Great Hour of Sharing Sunday" at this Sunday's 10:30 a.m. Service of Worship. The response of United States Christians after the Second World War to the staggering needs of people gave birth to Church World Service, the relief and development arm of the National Council of Churches. Once again the local congregation will divide its special offering with the United Church of Christ and the United Methodist Church. The 1987 theme is based on a paraphrase of Revelation 22:2, "And the Leaves of the Trees shall be for the Healing of the Peoples."

Mrs. Sandi Rehe, assistant pastor, will be the preacher. Ten members of the congregation will act out the Gospel Lesson, the story of the man born blind, in the ninth chapter of the Gospel according to John.

There is a class for adults at 9:30 a.m. and for children with nursery care at 10:30 a.m. A time for fellowship and light refreshment will follow the service.

LASER FOOT SURGERY

Laser Surgery is one of the newest and most significant applications of laser technology in the last two decades. Laser Surgery takes advantage of the intense heat generating properties to cut and remove tissue without the undesirable side effects that sometimes result from using a scalpel. The Laser produces a man-made light that has only one color and does not produce any undesirable radiation. The Laser we use is a Carbon-Dioxide Laser and it is the most versatile of the medical Lasers.
In our office we now use this laser technology in the removal of warts and other skin lesions of the foot. Studies have now shown and the "jury is in" on this new method for the treatment of plantars warts. Warts to be removed are identified, anesthetized with local anesthesia if necessary and "lased" with short burst of laser light. Not only does the laser remove the warty tissue, but it also stops the bleeding and prevents the swelling that usually results in post-operative discomfort. Not only is this treatment effective, but discomfort and limitations are minimal.

required number of affordable housing units.

Buildings will cover 6.2 percent of the property, 17.4 will be paved ways, 1.6 percent will be walkways, tennis courts will cover another 1.3 percent of the area and the remaining 73.5 acres will be maintained as open space.

In addition to this application, Colyer is expecting three others to be submitted before April 6.

Winn Development is expected to submit an application this week for 277 units on 36 acres of land located on North St., across from the proposed Northwoods comprehensive permit development, which will be heard by the Zoning Board tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the West Elementary School.

The Killgory Hill development is expected to consist of six acres and 78-units on Sparkle Drive and a proposal of another 150 units on Dale St., at the site of the old Ballardvale Mills, is anticipated.

Under the comprehensive permit requirements, the Zoning Board can only deny an application if the development would be detrimental to the public good, but the proposed articles would give the town more leverage in getting what is needed out of a proposed "affordable housing" development. A developer will know, in advance, what the town is looking for in plans for the properties and will basically be forced to meet those requirements.

According to Colyer, it is unavoidable that the Champy/Shetland and Perkins/Stevens properties will be up for comprehensive permits—unless the voters pass the two articles at Town Meeting, giving control of the land and its "affordable housing" development to the town.

Babysitters

The Regional Health Center in Wilmington has scheduled a babysitter course for boys and girls, 11-15 years old, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21, 22 and 23, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Topics include fire and home safety, telephone tips, ethics and contracts, diapering, basic first aid and chokesaving skills. It emphasizes emergency care and accident prevention.

Pre-registration is a requirement. Upon completion of this course, students will receive a certificate and be eligible for the health center's babysitters' registry.

The Regional Health Center in Wilmington is a division of Choate-Symmes Health Services.

Retired Chief Switches Hats

Andover's newest selectman, William Downs, begins his political career by kissing a baby—granddaughter Bonney Hewett—at his post-election party.

By Susan K. O'Neill

William T. Downs stood in his crowded dining room, next to a big, bronze lamp that had once been a fire alarm box. The lamp, one-half of a matched pair, served an impressive testimony to the Andover native's 31 years of service to his town's Fire Department.

About a year ago, after suffering a heart attack, the 59-year-old Downs had put his Fire Chief helmet away. His head did not remain bare for long; on this Monday night, in his house at 147 Elm Street, he had just learned that he had wor. a brand new hat—that of a town selectman.

Looking trim and healthy in his sports jacket and tie, Downs grinned at the supporters gathered about him. They ranged in age from the very young to the old—kids and assorted relatives; friends; neighbors; men from the firehouse downtown. "I appreciate the support I had from all my friends," he said.

Then he added, "I can't say I was surprised; I wouldn't have run if I thought I couldn't win."

Win he did—with a total of 811 votes of 2848 cast, more than 200 over his nearest competitor, Gail Ralston. He took five of Andover's eight precincts and scored second in two others.

For Downs, the election fulfilled a long-standing ambition. "I've always wanted to go out for selectman," he said. "As a Fire Chief, there was a conflict there. When I retired, I decided to run." He took out his nomination papers on Jan. 6—tying Gerry Grasso for the second-quickest start in the race (Florence Buck, who later withdrew her candidacy, was first)—and set his campaign team in motion early.

As they pored over the results from Town Hall Monday night, that team was openly exuberant. Firefighter Arthur Poulin clapped him on the back. "He's gonna be back leading the parade, where he's been all his life," he joked.

Downs' daughter, Cathy Wisecarver-,trailed her father with a videotape camera as he shook hands and accepted congratulations. It was suggested, facetiously, that Downs find a baby to kiss, since he was now a politician. Instantly, someone produced a small, bald-headed and very perplexed-looking child in white terry "jammies." It was Down's granddaughter, Bonney Hewett.

He kissed her, then handed her back to her mother. "I think she's wet," he remarked.

Wisecarver's camera was not the only medium chasing the new selectman. As Bernice Downs doled out refreshments, a reporter from a Lawrence radio station collared her husband and led him to a telephone upstairs. He would be broadcasting victory words live for the radio audience, she told him.

Receiver to her ear and microphone at the ready, the reporter asked Downs about his stand on expansion in general, and the now-ubiquitous Comprehensive Permit, in particular. "Housing should be under local control," he told her. "I'm totally against Comprehensive Permits."

Downstairs, the crowd clustered around the radio, waiting for his words.

The newscaster announced the election results, then apologized that the live broadcast would not be heard "due to technical difficulties."

The supporters groaned and shook

Victory Rewards Effort

By Karen L. Day

Two weeks after School Committee chairman Michael Giammusso announced that he would not seek re-election, Margo Tilghman, 4 Lovejoy Road, began her successful campaign for the single open seat on the committee.

When Town Clerk Elden Salter announced Tilghman's victory, with 38 percent of the vote, her campaign chairman, Kathy Brady, and campaign treasurer,Robbie Matto, were the first to the public telephone in the front hall of the Town Offices. Later, at the victory party, Matto commented that "every ounce of effort was worth" that winning moment.

Tilghman attributes her success to the fact that she has been "very active in the school system" for some time and "knew a lot of people...who knew what kind of worker I was."

The renewal of confidence in the secondary schools is of prime importance, she said, and her immediate goal is to make sure that individually good programs at one junior high are implemented at both. She also thinks that the community needs to "give our students more support in things they care about" and "to make sure that teachers have what they need to do their jobs well."

In the hope of prpmoting the involvement of the community at-large in the schools, Tilghman intends on holding question and answer periods once a month on a rotating schedule from school to school, although anyone will be welcome to attend, regardless of the school district they are from.

All three unsuccessful candidates are intent on running again.

Coming in a close second, tying Tilghman in two precincts and taking 30 percent of the vote, Sean Callahan looks at his campaign as "a good learning process" and plans on meeting with knowledgable people over the course of the next year in order to continue that process. Callahan noted a lack of difference in opinion among the candidates—all moved for a more proactive approach to education and better internal and exter-

Opinion

MARCH 26, 1987

Disappointing

While Monday's turnout for the annual town election was much better than previous years, the total was somewhat disappointing.

Given fine weather conditions and a number of candidates seeking seats on the board of selectmen and school committee, only 2,848 residents saw fit to exercise their franchise.

It should be noted that the elderly of the community seemed to recognize their civic duty more than the younger generation, despite the fact there were young people on the ballot.

But that is to be expected. Andover's senior citizens can be counted on to support their community just as they did a few years ago when they showed up in sufficient numbers to satisfy a quorum on the last night of town meeting to make everything legal.

The low turnout is unfortunate in view of the well-conducted campaigns carried out by the candidates. There was a friendly camaraderie among the office seekers as they campaigned throughout the town and particularly in the downtown area on Saturdays.

And, while the turnout was disappointing, there was something encouraging coming from the Monday election results.

Most all of the candidates have indicated they were not disappointed by their losses and vowed to return to the electoral wars on another occasion.

Certainly, such action is encouraging in view of the disinterest shown in recent years and the under 400 voter turnout of 1986.

Speaking of campaigning, it seemed that the Monday election was the kickoff for an active campaign to save the old town hall in the central business district.

Buttons have appeared, signs have been placed on the old, historic structure, appealing to 'Save Me.'

All of this bodes well for an interesting town meeting.

It generally takes one item such as the town hall issue to spur residents into attending the annual session, in view of the numer of lacklustre items which permeate the agenda.

Between now and the convening of the meeting on April 6 in the Collins Center there will be considerable activity on the part of those for and against the saving of old town hall.

Such activity, along with interest in various zoning and planning board issues should guarantee not only a quorum but interesting discussion over the three nights scheduled to transact the town's business.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — March 1912

A big electric sign with the words "Tyrian Tires" has been placed on the front of the Tyre Rubber Company's Factory.

Andover people will wish success to the project on foot in South Lawrence for the repaving of South Broadway from Canal St. to Phillips Hill. This portion of the road between here and Lawrence has been in very bad condition for some time and a change in it would be much appreciated.

William Corliss, formerly superintendent of the West Andover stock farm, has leased the Frank Phelps place and is soon to occupy it.

A meeting was held on Sunday evening in the town hall in the interests of no-license, and a large audience which gathered listened with interest to an address made by William J. Bannan, Esq. of Waltham. Mr. Bannan is an earnest temperance worker, and is a Past Grand Knight of the order of Knights of Columbus.

Plans for the baseball season at Punchard are well under way. The prospects are bright for a good team and a successful season. The initial game will be with Peabody High in the first part of April.

50 Years Ago — March 1937

Mr. Erving's election came as somewhat of a surprise. He had been conceded a chance to defeat either Dr. Stowers or Mr. Doherty, but there would have been no surprise at all if all three School Committee members had been re-elected. Mr. Doherty polled a much larger vote than had been expected, and he maintained a safe lead over Mr. Erving after the first two precincts reported.

The TOWNSMAN extends its heartiest congratulations to all the successful candidates at Monday's election. The vote given the re-elected candidates demonstrates the faith that Andover reposes in them based on their past service to the town, and the vote given the two new office-holders carries with it the hope that they too may serve the town well.

The first indication of hard-going for the Board of Public Works came on the snow removal appropriation of $10,000, when on a query from the floor it was stated that only $5.70 of last year's $28,000 was left.

A plan to keep in constant contact with all town departments throughout the years is being considered by the Andover Taxpayers' Association, and will probably be acted upon at the next meeting of the directors. Before town meeting, the plan was discussed at one of the board meetings but was laid on the table because of the press of town meeting matters.

25 Years Ago — March 1962

With reports of corruption, conspiracies, and generally unethical behavior ringing in our ears, we are more than happy to report several instances locally in which the integrity of our own officials has been lauded. It isn't necessary to spell out the names—but it has come to our attention that one large-scale developer has specifically discussed the fact that no one in Andover has as much as asked for a favor, never mind anything else.

The Selectmen are currently examining the School Commitee's proposal to acquire 40-plus acres of land off Wildwood Road for a school site. The acreage would have access through the DeVries development, and would serve that growing section of town. Some questions have been raised as to the actual need for over 40 acres, when the minimum requirement for the school is about 12 acres and the maximum, under state standards, would be, at most, 18.

A large number of Andover residents will fill prominent roles in the building fund campaign, which will be officially launched Monday, April 2, to raise $650,000 for the construction and equipment of a new home for the Lawrence Boys' Club, whose present facilities are outmoded and

Election Had A Rockwell Setting

By Susan K. O'Neill

Small town politics; the stuff of Norman Rockwell.

Monday night, 8:15. They scuff into the main hall of the Town Offices two by two, like weary refugees from Noah's ark. Plop down on the reception counter; stare at the blank bulletin board.

Waiting.

The woman's cheeks are wind-burned a mottled purple from a cold day's duty of sign-bearing. The sort of job done by the friends and relatives of a candidate. She is a candidate's mother's cousin.

She rubs her hands together. "This is the first time I've been warm today."

Two other women, friends of a candidate, nod in understanding. "You should've seen me on Saturday," says one. "Out there in the rain and snow—had my kids with me. My dog, too—a bunch of balloons tied to his collar."

Men push through the door. And a young woman from a local radio station, bearing a microphone and loops of cord that, stretched, could run the length of Main Street.

Candidate's mother's cousin laughs. You went to the other Town Hall?

"There was this sign on it—'closed,' " says one of the men.

8:30.

The Town Clerk appears, strips of paper in his hand. The group strains toward him, a collective giant ear.

"I have to photograph the results," he says. "But I can tell you who won if you want to know."

If?

He announces two names.

A cue ball, shot into racked balls. Winners shoot to the phone. Losers roll doorward. Radio Woman and the press scatter.

To the parties, to the parties. The Norman Rockwell parties that, for winners and losers alike, so resemble wakes.

9:30.

A lone janitor shuffles down the Town Office hallway, past nine strips of paper hung on the bulletin board.

The reporter steps through the door, into the silence, up to the board. Copies each precinct's results.

The night's youngest candidate charges in. Grin of a teenager.

"I figure I lost; just want to see how bad." He squints at the strip of paper that gives the night's total. It is very bad.

"Oh, well." A no-big-deal smile.

The reporter comments on his bravery. Running in spite of the fact that he had his age against him.

"Yeah—and the dumb things I said," he says cheerfully.

He pokes a finger to his own precinct's sheet. "Just checking to see if my mom voted for me."

Nods. "Yep, she did."

The reporter gives her condolences.

"Maybe I'll run next year," says the ex-candidate, in the same tone as he'd say, Maybe I'll get a McChicken.

10:00.

Outside the Town Offices, where cars jammed the drive at 8:30, there is only night-quiet and a bare street.

Inside, the lone janitor pauses in front of the bulletin board; shakes his head, then slowly shuffles away.

The Public Forum

Save "Spencer For Hire!"

To The Editor Of The Townsman:

We in the area are fortunate to have for the first time a television series shot entirely in and around New England.

The Spencer series has been good for Boston's economy and allows the rest of the country the opportunity to see some of our area's most historic locations.

The series has become more polished as it has found a feel for the people, the broad New England ethnicity and the attitudes of the area.

Unfortunately, "Spencer For Hire" is in jeopardy of being cancelled. This would be a very disappointing turn of events, just at a time when more and more New Englanders are discovering the show and enjoying its quality.

We in Andover are fortunate to have such fine people as the Urichs to call our neighbors. They are warm, unpretentious, caring citizens.

I and many others would like to lend support in keeping the Urichs, the cast, crew and the Boston area economy by writing in support of saving our show, "Spencer For Hire."

Postcards and letters can be sent to the following: Brandon Stoddard, ABC Entertainment, 2040 Avenue of the Stars, Los Angeles, CA 90067.

Please take a few moments and send a card as soon as possible.

Congratulations

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

By the time this is printed, the results of Andover's town election will be history. However, I have followed this local election with interest and tonight had the opportunity to watch most of the league's Candidates Night on cable T.V. (Thank you, League of Women Voters).

Congratulations are definitely in order to all of the candidates and their campaigners. They are testimony to my frequently stated opinion that Andover takes the high road when it comes to politics.

All of us know communities where elections degenerate int a circus and divide citizens. The general "class" displayed by our candidates as well as our citizens in political debate is something to recognize, treasure and nurture. I speak for many citizens when I say "thank you" to all the candidates.

"Data from the state strongly suggests that state aid will be reduced in the very near future. The town of Andover must address itself to the quality of the education it wants for our children and the price they are willing to pay." —Superintendent Kenneth Siefert.

Telephones will hum and considerable quantities of coffee be consumed between now and Monday as another town election climaxes.

The Board of Selectmen Monday night postponed the beginning of Town Meeting from April 25 until May 9, to allow the town two more weeks to deal with the disputed loss of nearly $1.4 million in state reimbursements.

Civil War uniforms on display at Memorial Hall Library were taken from a display case Saturday afternoon. A description of some suspects believed responsible have been given to police by library officials. The uniforms were part of a display on the second floor and were donated to the library several years ago.

A's Play Canadians Even

Last weekend Andover's PeeWee A hockey team traveled to Montreal, Canada, for a cultural exchange with their hosts from Terrebonne. The teams played dead-even with each game ending in a tie.

In the first contest, Andover scored twice in the first period. John Constantine put Andover up 1-0 for minutes into the game with assists from Sean Darwin and Bob Sheehan. Todd Allard pushed the puck across mid-ice and the blue line before feeding Ed Thistle for a nice goal with 5:20 remaining. Not being used to the Canadian non-checking rules, the American squad was called for five penalties in the last two periods. These short-handed situations contributed to a shift in momentum as the Terrebonne offense came alive. Goalie Mike Daley and the defense of Allard, Brenden Finneran, Sheehan and Mike Walsh shut down Terrebonne throughout period two. Strong forechecking from Joe Liguori, Jay Coburn, Chris Pothier and Pete O'Shea frustrated Terrebonne at the red line.

The Canadians finally scored at 8:20 of period three. Although their offensive advantage continued, Andover's defense responded as Feeley blocked two excellent scoring chances with his body. Terrebonne scored with only 1:55 remaining to earn the 2-2 tie.

Danny Feeley put Andover on top of game two at 1:10 of period one, assisted by Darwin and Allard. Terrebonne tied it at 6:03. Both teams skated excellently for the rest of the period as the goalies stopped all shots. Finneran made a beautiful rush up the left side with seconds to play, but the goalie came up with an incredible glove save.

Andover goalie Daley countered with an equally incredible glove save to begin period two. Feeley scored his second goal at 6:10 tipping in a rebound off an Allard slapshot from the point. Penalties began to add up for Andover and once again momentum shifted. Walsh made two great defensive plays clearing the puck while two men were in the penalty box. Terrebonne scored just before the end of the second period to tie the game and another goal put them ahead 3-2 at 5:11.

Andover played frantically trying to tie the score in the last few minutes. They came close when Sheehan hit the post. Darwon won a crucial faceoff and went in for the tying goal with only 56 seconds remaining.

EXCELLENCE FOR ALL

Squirt B's Sparkle In Shutouts

Andover goalie Phil Smith's hard work paid off with two shutouts, Triton 3-0 and Amesbury 4-0, as the Squirt B's tuned up their game for their trip to Canada. Triton's superb backchecking kept the pressure on. Dana DiFiore broke the scoreless tie late in the second period. Sean Donohue added the first insurance goal with 18 seconds left in the second period on a length-of-the-ice solo to put Andover up 2-0 going into the third period. DiFiore recorded his second goal of the game in the third period for the final score. Peter Volpe, David Bailey, Matt Johnson and Doug Batchelder cranked up their defense along with solid backchecking by Marc Escott, Jason Loomer and Mark Pirri to help Smith record his first shutout of the season.

The character and sportsmanship of this B team will never be more evident than it was in their 4-0 shutout of a rowdy, undisciplined team from Amesbury. Andover scored first when DiFiore converted a rebound from a Dan Hansberry shot at the mid-point of the first period. Loomer put Andover up 2-0 in the second period on a backhanded shot with assists to Tom Felago and Donohue. Amesbury had three players in the penalty box at the time. As the game progressed, the Amesbury coach lost total control of his team. By the time DiFiore and Hansberry added two more goals to their lead, Amesbury's play had degenerated. With 4:37 left in the third period, the referee called the game when the Amesbury coach refused or was unable to control the actions of his 10-12-year-old players. The Andover parents, Coach Doug Guittarr and interim coaches Steve Bailey, Alan Johnson and Bill Batchelder were proud of the character shown by their team.

Little League

Registration is underway for the 1987 Little League season, the 35th in Andover. The organization, staffed by volunteers and totally self-funded by players' fees and donations, provides organized baseball activity for Andover boys and girls ages 8 through 15 years old. The 700 players are organized into six distinct groups by age and skill: 8-year-old (Instructional) League, 9-Year-Old League; Major League (10, 11, 12 years); Minor League (10, 11, 12 years); 13-Year-Old League; Senior League (14 and 15 years).

Each league is fully outfitted by the organization, playing a full schedule (10-22, depending on group) of umpired and managed games at various fields throughout the town.

Play is scheduled to begin late in April with the season wrapping up in late June. Players must register now to be eligible to play.

Final sign-ups will take place this Saturday, March 28, at the Phillips Academy Cage from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in conjunction with Major League tryouts. Children in all age groups must be registered to assure that they are placed or drafted onto the proper team in time to participate in pre-season practices.

Girls Lose Tourney Semifinal

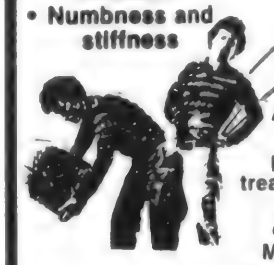

The St. Robert's girls' basketball team lost its semifinal match at the Eighteenth Annual Invitational Wellon Memorial Tournament in Marlboro. A sharp shooting team from Nashoba High School in Bolton defeated the Andover girls 55-43 last Tuesday night in the 16 and Under division. The score was close throughout the game but Nashoba's outside shooting finally won the game against Andover's zone defense.

Jackie Kupa scored 14 points and grabbed 14 rebounds. Julie Salazar had 12 points and Lee Dziadosz contributed 10 points and 2 assists.

Other members of the team were Anne Marie Charland, Lisa Fossella, Karen Del Sarto, Jodi Jangro, Cara Slavin, Julie Enos, Stephanie Aumais, Tricia Doyle and Allison Burke.

Kitchen Design
by David A. Clement, Designer
A LIGHT TOUCH
Natural light enters a kitchen through both windows and skylights. Though eminently desirable, natural light may illuminate a kitchen unevenly. A single window in the middle of a wall often creates such a strong contrast with the surrounding area that it causes glare. For more even light, consider using two windows on adjacent walls, adding a skylight, or compensating for the glare by illuminating the surrounding area with artificial light. Whatever type of light source you choose, plan to use dimmers or separate switches to control the level of light. It is easy and inexpensive to install dimmers on incandescent bulbs. To best control fluorescent lighting, place different fixtures on different switches.
Light is important in deciding what type of cabinet finish you should select. You may prefer the rich walnut tones, but if your room tends to be dark you might want to select the lighter oak wood tones. At WINDSOR KITCHENS we carry all styles and finishes of cabinets to blend in with the type of kitchen you want. For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

These are busy days at the senior center. Nex Wednesday, April 1, Bon Secours Hospital will present a program on health education at the senior center at 12:45 p.m.

And the same day you can sign up for a special between-season series of classes. Among other interesting new areas of consideration are: Geneology with Gratia Mahony of the Andover Historical Society; Reducing Cardiovascular Risk with Pat Wood, R.N.; an Alzheimer support group with Tom Ross of the Psychological Center; Family Relations with Leon Somers of The Somers Trust. Call the center at 470-3830 for a complete listing. And, remember, sign-up starts next Wednesday, April 1.

April 13 is the date of the next historical society presentation on Andover. Ballardvale will be the focus this month. The program starts at 1 p.m. and is free. Come and learn or stir old memories.

Have you seen the new Evans Wing of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts? We'd like to have you come with us for a guided tour featuring the new European exhibit and have lunch at the museum. Cost for the day is $30, but you need to sign up now.

Heritage Cable is rerunning a series of seniority programs. Next week on Channel 2 cable, you can have a "Look at Day Care and Respite Care," which includes a visit to Andover's Adult Day Care program. Seniority is aired Monday through Friday at 10:30 a.m. and, except Wednesdays, at 5:30 p.m. The week of April 6 the program will be "Senior Centers: More than a Hot Meal."

If you use Prince spaghetti products, would you cut off the proofs of purchase and take them to the senior center? Prince has a program through which we can get equipment for the senior center in return for these little "proofs." It would be so helpful if you'd save them for us.

The Andover Housing Authority at 100 Morton St. (veteran's housing) is accepting applications for rent subsidies for Andover residents. If you live alone and your income is not more than $11,150, or a couple with an income of not more than $12,750, help with your rent is available—rent where you are living now as long as it is in Andover. Call the housing authority at 475-2365 for more information.

The Museum of American Textile History will conduct a workshop at the center on April 30. You need to register now if you are interested in learning more about our area and the museum's unique look at American textiles.

Tickets for the Andover "Seniors" Prom go on sale April 7 at 10 a.m. The prom will be held at the Andover Country Club on May 7. Fun. Dining. Dancing. Plus entertainment. Cost is $15 per person. Get out your prettiest dress; brush off the dark suit. It's party time and Andover's seniors are out for a good time. Remember, tickets go on sale Tuesday, April 7, at 10 a.m.

Volunteers for clerical work and computer input duties are badly needed at the senior center. If you possess those talents and are willing to donate some time, call Dottie Whinn at 470-3800, ext. 290. We older folks are a worthy cause.

Exhibit

"Landscape Imagery: Four Photographers," an exhibit feturing works by New England artists, will open Sunday, April 5, with a reception from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Laura Knott Art Gallery at Bradford College. The exhibit will be on display through April 29.

Kim Blisard, a senior at Bradford College, will present "Antithesis," a dance work in progress, during the opening reception.

Cressida Is Elegance

The 1987 Toytota Cressida offers everything desirable in a luxury car. It represents a combination of sophisticated elegance and spirited performance. Toyota craftsmanship makes the car one of the most trouble-free automobiles in its class.

Creessida's responsive 2.8 liter, six-cylinder, twin cam, electronically fuel-injected engine gives a smooth, strong 156 horsepower, more power than many higher-priced luxury sedans.

An electronically controlled four-speed automatic overdrive transmission with shift pattern selector and lock-up torque converter enables selection of two different driving modes depending on individual driving needs.

Steering feel, delivered through speed-sensing power steering, has been optimized for precise easy control.

In the tradition of the finest sedans, Cressida rides on an advanced four-wheel, independent suspension system for superb handling and ride comfort. Power-assisted, ventilated, four-wheel disc brakes help provide control.

The Cressida is availabe at Jaffarian's, 312 River St., Haverhill, Tel. 372-8551 or 686-0941.

Why Porsche Races

"Win on Sunday; Sell on Monday" is a time-honored saying among automobile manufacturers involved in motor racing. The phrase certainly applies to many car companies who view their racing programs as valuable marketing tools designed to sell automobiles. Since its first car rolled onto a race track 37 years ago, racing has had two different and slightly less direct appeals for Porsche.

First of all, since Porsche is an engineering company, each racing activity is carefully selected to offer a new engineering challenge. This constant quest for new challenges has led Porsche into endurance sports car racing, international professional rallying and even, with the TAG/McLaren engine (designed by Porsche), into the Formula One arena.

With each racing engineering challenge that is met, it adds to the body of talent available among Porsche engineers to solve other problems—perhaps in areas more directly applicable to immediate consumer needs. For instance, experience gained in building and racing the Porsche 956 for the world endurance championships made possible the engine now available in the Porsche 928S street car.

Secondly, racing furnished Porsche with valuable learning experiences. For young Porsche engineers in particular, working on a race car provides a unique form of training. More so than anywhere else in the company they can work on a total automobile in an atmosphere where development schedules are extremely short, quality is maintained at the highest level and feedback from success or failure arrives promptly in either a victory or a loss on the race track.

So to Porsche, a "Win on Sunday" means much more than "Sell on Monday." It means another engineering challenge has been met by a well-trained staff of engineers whose technical innovations are eventually incorporated into street Porsches, that, in the words of Dr. Ferry Porsche, provide "driving in its most beautiful form."

Porsche is available at A.E. Park Corporation, 222 Lowell St., Lawrence, 686-9743.

Sgt. Winters Completes Training

Sgt. Kevin J. Winters of the Andover Police Department has completed the three-week Command Training Institute for Law Enforcement Officers program at Babson College, Wellesley. The program is co-sponsored by the New England Association of Chiefs of Police and the Babson College School of Continuing Management Education.

The objective of the training program is to provide command officers with the skills needed to exercise effective management practices and procedures in order to gain the most from those under their direction. Command training concentrates on the operational aspects of the command officer's responsibility, seeking to extend existing programs and provide a vehicle for instruction to those who must supervise the daily operations of various departments.

The program offers courses in community relations, decision-making, planning, staffing and other management and human relations subjects. More than 4,500 law enforcement officers from all the New England states and other areas in the United States have completed courses at Babson since the program began in 1967. John F. Kreckler, former superintendent of the Boston Police Department, is director of the New England Institute of Law Enforcement Management at Babson College.

Owner Regie Purdy carefully measures fabric

Bel—Air Upholstering & Slipcovers: Meet The Dynamic Duo

No, we're not talking about Batman and Robin. We're talking about Regie and Frank Purdy, owners of Bel-Air Upholstering. Regie and her husband Frank are blessed with different skills which complement each other beautifully in the upholstery business.

In the picture above Regie is measuring fabric for a sofa that is being reupholstered. Regie went to the customer's home in order to help with a fabric choice. A once frayed and worn print covering will now be discarded, and a lovely rose colored cotton/rayon blend with a shantung finish will take its place.

On the other side of the shop we find Frank working on the frame for the sofa. He will be repairing several damaged legs, and when he's through he'll be ready to take Regie's handiwork and put the finishing touches on a piece of beautifully reupholstered furniture.

Bel-Air not only reupholsters furniture, they'll build you a piece of furniture from scratch. You can choose from a selection of wood frames for a sofa, chair or loveseat, and the Purdys will finish the frame then add the support system, padding and fabric of your choice.

Regie Purdy will be happy to come to your home in order to help you with your decorating decisions. She'll tell you that the contemporary fabric you picked for your antique chair just won't work, or that polished cotton or chintz for your family room is just not practical. She'll take into consideration the lighting, the rug and wall colors, and your lifestyle in order to come up with fabrics and styles to suit you. They also provide custom made draperies, and pick-ups and deliveries are free.

A New Home For Classic Travel & Limousine, Inc.

Classic — "of the highest class; most representative of the excellence of its kind; having recognized worth." This dictionary definition can tell you alot about the quality of service you'll find at Classic Travel & Limousine, but there's much more to tell. The companies you once knew and depended on as Ultimate 1 Travel and Sunrise Limousine have merged and incorporated as one ... Classic Travel & Limousine, Inc. Not only do they have a new name, they have a beautiful new location at 1060 Osgood Road (Route 125), North Andover, overlooking Lake Cochichewick.

Classic Travel & Limousine is owned by Jeanne Lynch, and despite her absence from the picture above, she's very much in the picture when it comes to running her business. Jeanne is a veteran in the travel business with sixteen years of experience, including three years of ownership. She is ably assisted by Jan Golan and Judi Lemoine. Judi has paid her dues with twelve years of experience in individual, group, and commercial travel. Jan is scheduled for a trip to Dallas for American Airlines Sabre computer training, and a trip to Atlanta for Delta Airlines Datus II computer training to enable her to serve her customers faster and more efficiently.

Some travel agencies specialize in cruises, some in commercial travel, and some in group travel. At Classic Travel & Limousine "We're great at everything," reports Jeanne. At Classic they'll provide you with:

- Fast, computerized bookings

Despite Losses On Monday Candidates Will Run Again

By Susan K. O'Neill

They shivered in the cold, the rain and the snow with their placards; they lived their lives under an obsession for the past two months. Yet at least three of the four candidates who lost the battle for election to the Board of Selectmen to retired Fire Chief William T. Downs would consider another run.

In an election that pulled an 18 percent voter turnout—characterized by Town Clerk Elden Salter as a "good improvement over the last three years" but, given the day and field of candidates, "nothing to write home about"—Downs garnered 811 of 2848 votes. He came out ahead in five of the town's eight precincts.

His closest competitor was Gail Ralston, who polled 602 votes. Ralston did not dominate any one precinct; instead, she showed a steady strength across the board.

Ralston credits this consistancy to a broad base of support that includes younger people who have been in town for fewer than 20 years, older residents seeking change, and voters who wish to see a woman elected to the board.

"I definitely think I can be happy with what I did, with second place," she says. "It tells me very definitely that, in the future, I should run again."

She says that, since the election, she has received a great deal of feedback from individuals who would support a second run.

Given the chance to plan her campaign over again, Ralston says that she would have started earlier. "I picked up steam toward the end," she says.

Following close upon Ralston's heels in the race was veteran triathalon "Ironman" Gerald Grasso, who won 586 votes. Grasso took the fourth and sixth precincts, even though he polled fourth in his own (Precinct 2).

"I thought the townspeople came out to vote for a townie," says Grasso of Downs' victory. He adds that his own vote tally pleased him; "I guess I've got some friends out there."

Grasso, who teaches science and coaches sports at Andover High School, contends that the vote was "pretty good for a school teacher. People don't expect to see a teacher out there—they think we spend our time in this building (the high school) hiding out." He says that his run got the point across that teachers can do other things than teach. "We're human beings, too," he says.

Grasso is weighing the feasibility of another run. "I'm thinking about it. It's nice to get out, but it's not good to get overexposed, because people think you run just to run. I'm going to see what's going to happen."

Robert Hughes considers his run, which won him 434 votes, "a great experience for me—we had a lot of fun."

The election went to the person who was the most organized, and able to attract the most voters, he says, adding that he called Downs to congratulate him on his victory. "He did a good job," says Hughes.

"There are two seats open next year," he adds. "I have every intention to try again."

Robert Merrill trailed the field with 321 votes, winning his own West Andover precinct (5). Because of schedule conflicts, he was not able to be reached for comment by the TOWNSMAN's publication deadline.

Of her husband's run for the seat, Merrill's wife, Neila, says, "He figured the public has spoken."

Asked if Merrill plans to run again, Neila Merrill says, "You never know." Fielding such a question so soon after his defeat, she says, is somewhat like being asked if one wishes to have another baby immediately after a delivery. At this point, she says, he plans to keep his options open.

nal communication—and believes that Tilghman was more motivational in getting supporters to the polls.

Edward Kupa, 4 Joseph St., answered an enthusiastic "I certainly am" when asked if he would be running for the next open seat. "The biggest problem was getting people to know who I was," and now that they do, "I think I'll win." About Tilghman, Kupa commented that "she deserved to win...she worked hard."

"My age, my lack of experience, and my outspokeness on some of the issues," were the three elements that brought about defeat for John Nardozza, 59 Juniper Road. He will run again "if it looks like there's a good opportunity." When asked what Tilghman's winning edge was, Nardozza said that it was the support of the Parent-Teacher Organizations throughout the school system.

All three believe that the campaign has improved their name recognition to the point that next time will be easier—and more fruitful.

their heads.

When Downs reappeared, two new guests cornered him. Selectmen Gerry Silverman and Charles Wesson offered their congratulations on a hard-fought, clean campaign.

Then Silverman pulled out a black folder and handed it to his new cohort. "You'll need this for Saturday's meeting," he said.

"We have a meeting Saturday?" asked Downs. He looked slightly dazed.

"Saturday morning," said Silverman.

Cathy Wisecarver swept in and leveled her camera at her father once again. The radio reporter told the crowd, "Mr. Downs has consented to be on the 10:00 news."

As Bernice Downs refilled her guests' drinks, Silverman and Wesson towed Bill Downs into the living room to get down to business.

Awarded Medal

Marine Staff Sgt. John C. Kramer, whose wife, Annmarie, is the daughter of Dorothy Kennedy, 531 Johnson St., North Andover, has been awarded a Meritorious Mast while serving at Marine Corps Rcruiting Station, Richmond, VA.

A Meritorious Mast is an official recognition from a Marine's commanding officer for superior individual performance. It is issued in the form of a bulletin published throughout the command and a copy is entered in the Marine's permanent service records.

If you had spent $1,000 a day since the year one A.D., you would not yet have spent one billion dollars.

Jim Witt Pontiac: Saluting The Service Department

In most car dealerships the salesmen get all the recognition, but at Jim Witt Pontiac there's a corps of Service personnel who deserve to have the spotlight shining on them.

The men pictured above are the men who will greet you when you bring your car in for maintenance or repair. Their responsibility begins when they take down service requests from customers, and continues as they interpret these requests, schedule a repair time, and assign a technician.

If a car requires general maintenance, any technician may be assigned, however, if the job involves electronics, transmissions, engine repair or drive assemblies for example, a specialized technician with expertise in that particular area will be assigned.

Jim Witt Pontiac requires that all technicians be nationally certified. There are 8 national certification levels, and the dealership offers incentive pay to technicians achieving the higher level classifications. With cars becoming so technically sophisticated, Jim Witt Pontiac sends its technicians to school throughout the year to keep up on all innovations, and they pay transportation, room and board for technicians attending school.

Some dealerships won't service a car unless you've bought it there. At Jim Witt Pontiac they'll turn no customer away regardless of where the car was purchased, the make or model. Service has grown to the point where customers can be taken on an "unannounced" basis for quick service such as an oil change or tune-up.

When a dealership treats its Service Department with such admiration and respect, just imagine how that Service Department will treat you.

Visit Jim Witt Pontiac at 1365 Middlesex St., Lowell and see their product lines including Renault, Jeep, GMC Truck and GM's hottest selling car - Pontiac. Sales: M—TH 9-9, Fri 9-6, Sat 9-5. Service: M-F 7:30-5:30. Call 458-4671.

REPRESENTING SOME OF THE MOST OUTSTANDING & INTRIGUING HOMES IN THE SEACOAST AREA!

Real Estate
By DOUGLAS N. HOWE
REALTOR

RARE OPPORTUNITIES FOR HOMEOWNERS

Homeowners who bought their homes three or four years ago when interest rates were higher now have some rare opportunities to upgrade their home investment without increasing their monthly mortgage payment costs.

It is possible that the monthly payments that many homeowners are now making could enable them to buy a larger, upgraded home or could be used to pay off their mortgage in a shorter time period through refinancing.

For example, 1982-payments of around $1,250 per month were required for a 30-year fixed-rate loan. The family that is comfortable with the present level of payments for a 15% mortgage can sell its present home and move up to a larger home at no appreciable additional mortgage cost.

If that family prefers, it can refinance the present mortgage. By continuing the present level of payments, the new mortgage will be paid off in less than half the time, or the monthly payments can be reduced - all good options if you want more for your money!

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Laurel Moynihan
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

"FOR SALE" SIGNS ARE GREAT ADVERTISING

"I'd like to list my house with your company, but I don't want one of those signs in my front yard!" This is how many of our sellers feel when they first discuss listing their homes. They may not want neighbors to know they're moving, or they may be concerned about privacy, fearing that complete strangers will appear on their doorstep asking to see the house. There are, however, some strong advantages to having that For Sale sign.

First, it's a good idea to let your neighbors know you plan to move as soon as possible. They may have a friend or colleague they'd like to have on the block, and neighbors often help our listings sell quickly. In addition, most Realtors find that signs make the phones ring even more than newspaper ads, and when people do call about a sign, they already like what they see on the outside! Finally, almost all buyers will be considerate enough to contact the Realtor to see a home that interests them. Having a sign is not an absolute necessity, but after you discuss it with your agent, you'll probably agree that the advantages do outweigh the possible drawbacks.

For solid advice on marketing your home, come to Realty USA / Schruender Real Estate. Stop by our office at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or give us a call at 685-5000.

LOCATION

There is an old adage in the real estate business that says: The three most important things to look for in a home are location, location and location." Certainly, the first of the important locations is the neighborhood. What is it like now and what is it going to be? The choice of a neighborhood will affect both you and your family. It will do so with respect to your current budget and the compatibility to be found with your neighbors in terms of the present life style of the community. It also will affect the future resale value of the home. It is crucial to one's happiness that the location of a home pleases both one's person and one's purse. As soon as the choices have been narrowed down to two or three neighborhoods, take a full day for serious investigation of each area.

Today all real estate transactions are best left to the guidance of a professional. At CENTURY 21 SHAWSHEEN REALTY, INC. We understand this so whether you are buying your first home or are a retired couple about to sell your large home and move into a small cottage give us a call. We have the experience, the professionalism and of course, the resources you need to achieve a satisfactory conclusion. We're here at 8-10 Haverhill St., 470-3875. We are open daily, evenings and weekends.

Planners Give Negative Nod To Northwoods Proposal

By Karen L. Day

Among other business, the Planning Board Tuesday night held public hearings on two definitive subdivision plans, voted on a preliminary plan, and registered a negative recommendation on the proposed Northwoods comprehensive permit plan to be heard by the Zoning Board of Appeals tonight.

The "Hearthstone Village" definitive cluster subdivision plan received a favorable response from both the board and the planning staff. Since preliminary approval, the plans have been revised somewhat to address concerns expressed by the board.

The radius of each of the two roadways into the subdivision off Osgood Street has been brought up to meet current regulations. One of the roads has been moved slightly to accommodate a power easement and the wetland crossing of the other road has been eliminated. In addition, one less lot is included in the plan, which currently has 17 lots on one road and 20 on the other.

The "Woodland Park" definitive plan will include 27 acres of conservation land to be protected by either a restriction or by deeding it to the town.

The subdivision, which will be accessed from River Road, also includes emergency access from Chandler Road, will have one roadway, Federal Street, that will have deceleration lanes at two specific points.

The plan does not currently include the sizes or locations of buildings, but about 970,000 square feet of buildings is expected to be built in the next three to six years.

The major issue currently facing the plan is wetlands, and the Conservation Commission will act on that matter at their April 2 meeting.

The board cast a unanimous vote in favor of the nine-lot Preliminary Site Plans for Hitchcock Farm—with numerous conditions to be applied to the design of definitive plans.

Plan and design requirements of the board's Rules and Regulations must be strictly applied and special consideration must be made regarding off-site drainage flows. Impacts on any area mapped that borders vegetated wetland will be considered by the board.

A special permit for earth movement and regrading will be required as part of the definitive plan and profiles of existing and proposed grades from the street line of lots 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, through the center of the lots to the rear lot line will be submitted.

Water service pressure level calculations for lots 7, 8, 9 and 10 must be done to the satisfaction of the Department of Public Works and the division line between lots six and seven must be moved "as to 'open up' frontage on lot number six."

Finally, a full demonstration of the location and design of an adequate access road must be included in the definitive plan.

The Northwoods comprehensive permit plan, which proposed approximately 10 units per acre, received a unanimously unfavorable review by the board. Their opinion is to be forwarded to the Zoning Board of Appeals, the decision-making body for such petitions, who will hear the petition tonight.

Chief issues cited by board members include density, site drainage, traffic and the potential for underground springs on the property.

Again acting in conjunction with a Zoning Board petition, the board voted in favor of plans submitted by JCH Realty Trust to add on to an apartment building at 55 High St. Numerous improvements will be made on the property in the areas of parking and the driveway. The Zoning Board will now be able to submit their decision on the special permit.

Susan Poore School Board Chairman

Tuesday night, the Andover School Committee held its annual election of officers. Susan Poore was elected Committee Chairman for the year, and Donald Robb was re-elected to the post of Secretary.
